

/ in the blue /

Crina Dumitrescu

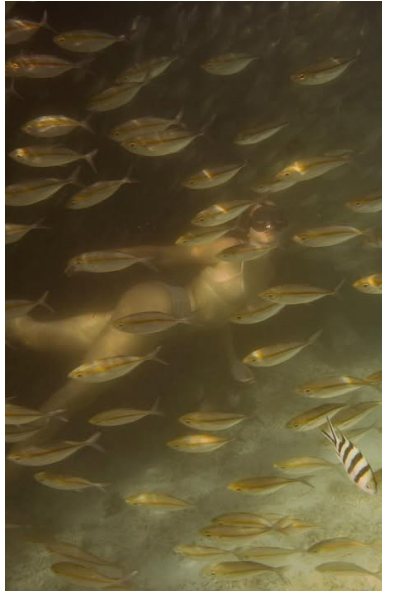

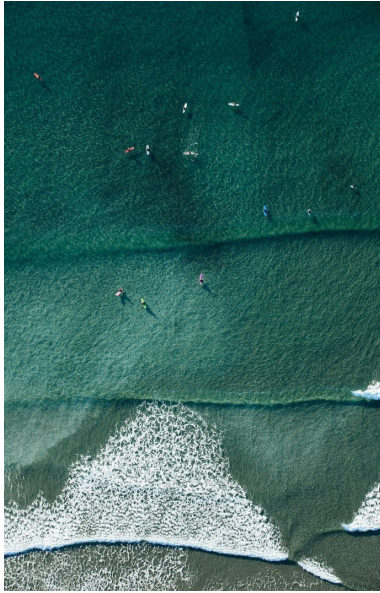

endless blue, submerged stillness, barely there connection, same ocean, two stories, weightless, dreamstate, endless sky, tension and release, morning surf, soundless, sea breath, prussian blue light, golden blue, stillness, horizon line, breath, face tension, aquamarine, electric calm, hush, silhouettes, parallel presence, shadow play, salt on skin, aquamarine, movement, soft contrast, floating, undercurrent, sky reflection, deep silence

“She surfed toward the sky, chasing light with salt on her skin.
Far below, another moved through golden blue, eyes on the ripple above.
One lived in motion, the other in stillness.
They passed like shadows
one above, gazing into the sun, one below, reaching for the light.

No names. No conversation. Just that strange electricity, like the ocean knew something they didn't.

And maybe it did.”
